Presenting: the great performer . . . that elegantly mannered suit with the slimmer, trimmer lines . . . the Continental, making an impressive showing at the Bay for all the fallwinter husiness and dress circles. The Continental is trim, with a somewhat shorter jacket, a more cutaway front and a slight waist suppression. The jacket may have peaked or notched lapels, 2 or 3 buttons, squared off or natural shoulders . . . trousers may be worn cuffless or not, as one prefers. But the total effect is suave and sophisticated, giving you a manof-the-world appearance! Choose the model you like, the cloth you prefer, the newest patterns and shades . . . they're all at the Bay!

Presenting

"THE CHALLENGE OF ASIA"

Larry Henderson, Canada's leading news commentator, has returned to Canada, fresh from a two-month journey in the Far East, with a full-length color movie, vividly illustrating the glamour and the dangers of the exotic East. Travelling hundreds of miles by plane and jeep into the interior of "forbidden" Himalayan kingdoms and tropical jungles, Mr. Henderson sought the story behind Chinese Communist aggression. In Sikkim, on the frontier of Tibet, he was a

"INSIDE RED CHINA"

Introducing Robert Cohen

Robert Cohen, the noted American Special Correspondent, was vacationing in Moscow when NBC asked him to film the group of American students that went to China. Not knowing whether he would even be allowed to take films, he decided to risk it and set off on a 9-day, 6000-mile journey on the Trans-Siberian Railway. Arriving in Peking he was surprised to find the Chinese willing to let him film everything in sight.

Mr. Cohen received his M.A. in Motion Pictures at UCLA in 1954. He served in the United States Army as a television director, Fort Monmouth, and as a newsreel cameraman, SHAPE Headquarters in Paris. While studying for his Doctorate in Social Psychology at the Sorbonne, he visited Moscow during the World Youth Festival. There he was assigned by NBC to take films in China. The first American to film Red China, Robert Cohen has also made international prizewinning documentary and entertainment films, and has worked for the Associated Press and CBS Television.

"Inside Red China"

This is the first eyewitness account of how China's 650,000,000 people live today. During a 45-day, 7000-mile tour of China, Mr. Cohen photographed such usually forbidden things as bridges, jet planes, tanks and the inside of a political prison. The undeveloped film was air expressed to New York without a single frame being censored, or even seen, by the Communists.

See Peking, Shanghai, Canton, rebuilding the Great Wall, the giant bridge across the Yangtze, Nanking University, Changchung auto plant, co-operative farm life, the Sampan dwellers, modern Red Army and Air Force, U.S. Korean "turncoats", modern hospitals, ancient medicine with silver needles, new factories, primitive forms of labor, Premier Chou En Lai and Dr. Chen — California Tech and Massachusetts Institute rocket expert, now head of Peking's Institute of Mechanics; the awe-inspiring National Day Parade.

"THE SCOTLAND OF THE SCOTS"

Capt. Alan Villiers Sinbad of the Seven Seas

Alam Villiers went to sea in 1919 by sail. He whaled in the Antarctic with the first Ross Sea Expedition, later joining Captain De Cloux in the purchase of the four-masted barque, Parma. In 1934 he bought a Danish schoolship, renamed her the Joseph Conrad and sailed 58,000 miles to all parts of the world. Appointed Master of the Mayflower, he sailed that replica to the U.S.A. in 1957.

Captain Villiers has commanded ships in the filming of "Moby Dick" and "John Paul Jones". In the latter, he helped reconstruct and sailed two ancient square-rigged frigates 800 miles across the Mediterranean and portrayed two important characters in the film, along with Robert Stack, Bette Davis, Charles Coburn, and a huge cast. He is the author of 20 books, including "Cruise of the Conrad", "Set of the Sails", "Wild Ocean", and "Quest of the Schooner Argus".

"THE SCOTLAND OF THE SCOTS"

About Scotland and the Scots

In the summer of 1959, Capt. Alam Villiers took a converted Dutch fishing-vessel, called the Cristoden, on a 3000-mile cruise of Scotland and the Western Islands. This is the way to see Scotland, where there are so many lakes and lochs and deep sea fjords, right into the heart of the Highlands . . . massed pipes and drums, Macbeth's grave, St. Columba's stone couch, crofts and crofters, moonscape of the Isle of Harris, herring fishing at Minch, to islands with strange names like Rum and Eigg and Muck and Coll, to Barra and the fabled castle of the MacNeil of Barra, American-born chief of the great Clan MacNeil, who is restoring the ancient castle to its former glories, to Balmoral for a glimpse of the castle there, to Invernay to talk with the Duke of Argyll, to Tobermory to look for the Armada galleon full of treasure there, to Loch Ness to hunt down evidence on which stories of sighting the fabled monster may be based, to Edinburgh for its Festival, Inverness, Aberdeen, Glasgow . . . Five months and 3000 colorful miles.

Danger Is Col. Craig's Business!

No stranger to World Adventure Tourgoers, Col. John D. Craig returns with a new deep-sea diving adventure traveltale film, this time on the Spanish Main. Star of television's exciting programs "I Search for Adventure", "The Kingdom of the Sea", and "Danger Is My Business", Col. Craig has a lifetime of adventure behind him in three domains — across the world, in the air, and at the bottom of the sea. He has shot films in 53 countries, across five continents, and under four oceans. His pictures have won the coveted Motion Picture Academy Award and the TV "Emmy" Citation.

Col. Craig's cameras have recorded history in the making. He was Officer in Charge of Air Force Motion Picture Units which flew and photographed the Bikini Atom Bomb Tests. During World War II he and his Air

The Spanish Main

This is a all-color motion picture program of an exciting and picturesque air-sea cruise over, across and under the romantic Caribbean Sea, following the trails of historic buccaneers and Columbus. It features the Bahama Reefs, Dry Tortugas, Jamaica, Haiti, Florida Keys, a Civil War "Pentagon Building," the U.S. most remote National Park, and historic spots where Columbus once walked. During diving operations near where the Santa Maria was lost an old anchor — probably from this ship — is found. The historic old world and the Jules Verne aspects of the newly discovered underwater world are presented in "Spanish Main Adventure".

A Film Study of Canada's Wilderness

This full-length color film was taken by German wildlife photographer Eugen Schuhmacher on a pack trip from Dawson Creek to Banff National Park three years ago. Mr. Oeming was a guide for Mr. Schuhmacher's party and provides commentary during the showing. Stars of the film include grizzlies, caribou, ospreys, moose, elk, mountain sheep and goats, with a particularly dramatic scene in which a black bear kills an elk. The original sound track is retained with specially scored music added.

"NOVA SCOTIA"

About James Metcalf

James W. Metcalf has been in the photographic profession for almost twenty years. He majored in chemistry at the University of Michigan, and after college days studied commercial photography, graduating from the professional school at Winona, Indiana. During the last war he travelled extensively for the army ordnance corps, producing technical manuals and training films. His photographic assignments have taken him into wilderness Canada, Yucatan, Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Cuba, Venezuela, Colombia, the West Indies and other exciting places. His familiarity with Latin America and his top rating as a photographic artist have earned for him a contract to produce a series of motion pictures for Coronet Instructional Films, Inc.

"NOVA SCOTIA"

The Sunrise Province

As a guest of the province of Nova Scotia, Mr. Metcalf spent over three months filming the entire length and breadth of "Canada's Ocean Playground" and its people. From Cape North to Yarmouth in the south, from Halifax to the Bay of Fundy, his cameras roamed and filmed their story. The people were filmed as they hunted and fished or guided visiting sportsmen to the fields and streams. They showed how they make steel and hooked rugs, work precious gem-stones and build ships, how they weave their ancient Scottish tartans and hunt the giant tuna that thrive around their shores. Mr. Metcalf includes in his film the unique "Gathering of the Clans" at colorful Pugwash and the great "Highland Games" at Antigonish.

From the cool, quiet forests and lakes one is led through the bustling industrial centers of Sydney and Halifax and on to the exciting climax of the world's only International Tuna Cup Match at Wedgeport. Throughout the film there is unusual background music . . . on-the-spot recorded native melodies of the Scottish Highlands and the skirl of the baggipes.

independence in later years

Every thinking person is concerned with the future. He wants to make good and sure that when retirement time rolls around, he will be financially independent . . . have enough money to relax, maybe travel a bit.

He wants to be sure of something else too. He wants to know that if anything should happen to him, his family will be well looked after. There's only one sure way to guarantee all this — that's to own enough life insurance.

Is your insurance adequate to meet these needs? Talk it over with a Great-West life agent. He can help you work out a plan that will guarantee your future financial independence, and at the same time protect your family. There's no obligation . . . except to your family!
